

R.E.A.C.H. CAMP

Research and Explore Awesome Careers in Healthcare:

A one-day program hosted at a local healthcare facility that provides high school students the opportunity to explore the healthcare field through a variety of hands-on stations and activities.

Participating in a R.E.A.C.H. Camp

- High schools recruit students to participate at a local healthcare facility.
- Students rotate through departments within the facility to complete hands-on stations and activities that highlight various healthcare careers.
- Regional AHEC staff coordinate with the healthcare facility and support high school staff in determining logistics.

Why it Matters

R.E.A.C.H. camps provide high school students the opportunity to explore healthcare careers prior to deciding on an education or career path. Students become familiar with a local healthcare facility that has potential to become a future employer.
